Dear Participant,

We are delighted to announce that your abstract has been chosen for an oral presentation at the Young Scientist Conference (YSC) during IISF 2023. Heartiest congratulations for the same! The event will take place at DBT-THSTI Campus in Faridabad from January 17 to 20, 2024.

Your submission underwent a meticulous review by our panel of experts and was selected based on the quality and relevance of your work. Each abstract was screened for plagiarism, abstract length, novelty, innovation, translational value, and societal impact. We believe that your presentation and subsequent discussions will play a pivotal role in helping our event succeed.

While the detailed guidelines about the oral presentations will be shared subsequently, we encourage you to book your tickets for the event. Kindly note that only individual researchers or one selected presenter from each team are eligible to participate in the YSC. Upon the submission of train tickets booked exclusively through IRCTC, we will reimburse up to 3 AC to and fro train fares online after the event. Accommodation on a twin-sharing basis will be provided for 5 nights, with check-in on January 16 after noon and check-out on January 21 before noon. Please note that due to space limitations, we cannot accommodate additional individuals beyond the researchers shortlisted for presentation.

It is also informed that no request for switching over from oral to poster presentation shall be entertained at any condition.

Kindly confirm your participation through email by 2nd January 2024.

We look forward to witnessing your oral presentation at YSC@IISF 2023.

Best wishes,

Organising Team
