About Raasta

Raasta means “the way”—and that’s what we strive to be. We are a non-profit led by a London School of Economics alum. At Raasta we are committed to unlocking opportunities for learners from underrepresented and marginalised communities. We do this through mentorship, skills training, and access to critical information related to education, employment, and leadership.

We are currently inviting applications for our 8-week internship programme. Interns will support our efforts to grow and strengthen Raasta’s impact across Kashmir.

Available Internship Roles

1. Research Intern

As a Research Intern, you will support our partnerships and programming by conducting strategic research on stakeholders, opportunities, and trends in education, youth leadership, and development.

Key Responsibilities:

- Conduct desk research on corporates, NGOs, universities, youth collectives, and funders aligned with Raasta’s mission (especially in Kashmir)
- Identify potential partners and collaborators
- Map relevant events, fellowships, or campaigns for youth engagement
- Support outreach through data gathering and email follow-ups

You’re a good fit if you:

- Are an undergraduate or postgraduate student (any academic stream)
- Have strong research and writing skills
- Are interested in education access, youth development, or social impact

- Have prior experience through internships or extracurriculars (desirable, not essential)

2. Operations Intern

As an Operations Intern, you'll help ensure our programmes and internal systems run smoothly, supporting everything from workshop logistics to backend organisation.

Key Responsibilities:

- Manage workshop logistics including registration forms, scheduling, and reminders
- Respond to emails and coordinate with participants or partners
- Help organise internal systems: files, content calendars, and digital folders
- Assist with event checklists and social media content prep
- Maintain trackers for outreach, responses, and planning

You're a good fit if you:

- Are detail-oriented, organised, and reliable
 - Comfortable using tools like Google Docs, Sheets, Gmail, and Drive
 - Are proactive and able to take initiative on small but essential tasks
 - Have an interest in event coordination, youth programs, or nonprofit operations
 - Have prior experience through internships or student leadership roles (preferred, not essential)
